Frank E. Langley, Publisher.

Entered at the Postoffice at Barre as Second Class Matter.

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 23, 1905.

The average daily circulation of the Barre Daily Times for the week ending Saturday was

3,674

copies, the largest paid circulation of any daily paper in this section.

This is the first day of Fall, according to the almanac. It's a good beginning.

The beef packers try to make it appear that none of their members are disturbed at the government's proceedings against them, but it is to be noted that four of them appeared in court the other day and pleaded guilty to the charges and were fined $25,000 in the aggregate. They are not afraid of being prosecuted, but they don't want to stand trial.

A crude, raw individual is Governor Vardaman of Mississippi, and when he indulges in tirades against the New York life insurance companies he speaks, of course, from the point of view of intense section prejudice, says the Boston Transcript. Yet, thanks to the mismanagement of these enterprises, there are undoubtedly hundreds of thousands of other Southerners, less crude and unintelligent, who feel the same way, but who talk only by tightening their purse strings.

THE PASSING OF THE SHEEP.

It is a common occurrence to hear regrets of the passing of the sheep from Vermont's hills, but the following from the Nashville American shows that Vermont is not the only state from which the sheep is disappearing:

"There is a steady decrease in the world's supply of sheep. Within the last ten years there has been a decrease of about 72,000,000, or nearly one-seventh of all the flocks of the world.
 Germany, which once had 30,000,000 sheep, now has only 10,000,000. Canadian sheep are growing fewer in number. India's flocks have been reduced one-seventh in eleven years; Spain, the home of the world's finest fleeces, has lost one-fifth in eight years. Russia now has nearly one-seventh of the world's supply of sheep, but they are of an inferior breed. Even in Russia and South America, the grazing lands, which formerly pastured large flocks of sheep, are being converted to agricultural use. As a country develops in agriculture and modern civilization, sheep-raising is abandoned. The sheep is destructive of grass and vegetation.
 In the West there is war between the sheep men and the cattle men. The latter complain that sheep ruin the grazing. Large sheep herds exist in the mountains of California and some of the Western states, where the land has not yet been utilized for agricultural purposes, but eventually such lands as are suitable for farming will be occupied.

"Wool has largely advanced in price within the last year, and it is not likely to grow cheaper. As the world's population increases and sheep decrease in numbers, the cost is more likely to advance. There are various substitutes for wool. Modern machinery and invention are responsible for alleged woolen fabrics that have little or no wool in them.
 Pure woolens are only for the few."

A Bear and Sow Fight.

A red Jersey sow, the mother of five likely red pigs, all claiming H. H. Burlington for master, while in a swamp not far away from home had a serious misunderstanding with a 3-year-old black bear, who thought his name was Robert Fitzsimmons. The mother pig was minding her own business, strictly rooting out fern roots which Otto says can be transformed into Al pork. Mr. Bear heard her gentle grunting as she called those incipient sausages about her telling them to chew the roots in good shape or they might acquire indigestion. Mr. Bear left off stripping sallow berries, and, listening to the tinful squeal of a certain pig whose name is Grace, said to himself:
 "That pig is mine; so many berries make me tired. Grace is young, tender and juicy; she was made for me." But Grace's mother had other designs for her darling daughter, so after three rounds in which Mr. Bear received several painful rips in his anatomy, the decision was thrown to Mrs. Pig and children, and the bear retreated to the inner recesses of the cedar swamp, snarling as he waddled: "I never did like pork very well, anyway; sallow berries are good enough for me. Ta, ta."—Edmonds Review.

In Vain.

"It is useless to urge me, Gerald," the maiden said. "It is impossible. I shall never marry."
 "There is some other man, perhaps," he suggested with bitterness.
 "No. I have a higher regard for you than I have for any other man."
 "Why do you tell me that?"
 "To save your face, if you insist upon knowing," proudly answered the high spirited girl.
 Yet as she spoke, she saw it was too late.
 His countenance had fallen.—Chicago

One hundred and twenty-six years ago today (September 23d, 1779) Admiral Paul Jones, in his Bon Homme Richard, defeated the Serapis, having two years before in the Ranger received the first salute paid to the Stars and Stripes by a foreign man-of-war. Our country is now doing all possible honor to so brave a man. Besides his courage, he was noted for the extreme care he gave his dress. If he were alive today, our Clothing would appeal to his good taste.

JINGLES AND JESTS.

His Opinion.

Billy—How would yez like to be a actor, Mickey?
 Mickey—It'd be a cinch in one o' dem plays where dey has a feed on de stage every night.—Brooklyn Life.

The Real Thing.

Mrs. Ikki—I wish you wouldn't be such a tight wad! I haven't a thing to wear.
 Mr. Ikki—Blinkin' Borealis! Why, woman, you have the finest seal coat in two degrees of latitude.
 Mrs. Ikki—And what of it? There goes Mrs. Blubberton swaggering around in a real seal coat with plush trimmings!—Puck.

Another Story.

At luncheon she is like a queen;
 At dinner like an empress fair;
 At night so, smiling and serene, She seemed an angel seated there—A creature whom some bard of old Would choose to praise in choicest rhyme.
 Alas! oh, youth; could you behold This self-same girl at breakfast time!
 For smiles cannot endure for aye,
 And even complexions sometimes fade And wavy tresses will not stay In place without some proper aid.
 The dancing lights a wondrous spell May weave at midnight's mystic chime, Illusion vanish, truth to tell,
 Most ruthlessly at breakfast time.
 —Washington Star.

A Gentle Gibe.

Five American millionaires were staying at Claridge's Hotel last week, and it is worth noting, as showing how the republican spirit is no mere empty form, that one whose fortune is estimated at 20,000,000 pounds treated one who had only 10,000,000 pounds as his equal and was seen more than once to converse with him.—London Punch.

 ing recipes. A cook book every day.

EAST MONTPELIER.

The Grange fair is to be held Friday evening of next week.

The Simon family moved from town to Barre last Saturday.

Richard Willard is attending the Union school in Montpelier.

Mrs. Phyllis Willard is visiting her niece, Mrs. Bliss, of Montpelier.

A. G. Whitchee and wife spent last Sunday with relatives in Williamstown.

Frank Hugbee of Calais spent last Sunday with his sister, Mrs. J. F. Robbins.

Mrs. Frank LeBaron and children are staying a while with her daughter in Calais.

A fourth slide of clay mud covered the road at the foot of Farnham hill last Monday night.

Mrs. Enos Fuller and daughter, Mrs.
 Robinson, of Barre spent most of last week at the farm of J. F. Robbins.

Joe Bero and wife, returning from Northfield last night, found the road so badly washed they stayed in Montpel-er over night.

A good many townspeople attended the Northfield fair and some wished they had not gone. A few went to St.
 Johnsbury fair.

Miss Katherine Mathieson of Barre city is at A. G. Whitchee's, taking a short vacation from her duties as bookkeeper for the Gas Co.

Fred Townsend collided with Dr.
 Lewis of Barre on his way home last Saturday night, but no damage was done only the doctor was landed in the ditch.

The Ladies' Aid society is gaining fast in numbers and interest, over 50 being present Thursday of this week, when they met with Mrs. C. P. Mc-Knight.

MRS. LOTTIE BLAIR PARKER.
 Author of "Under Southern Skies," Which is to be Presented at the Opera House Monday Evening.

A Cheerful Liar.

"Speaking of liars," said the truthful man, "I ran across one the other day who deserves the prize. The conversation had turned on gambling, and as usual every man had some story of wonderful luck. Then the modern Ananias blurted in: 'It was in El Paso some years ago,' he said. 'I was younger in those days and gambled quite a bit. If I went broke it was all right, but if I won I wanted the whole pile.
 I strolled into a gambling house one night, walked to the roulette table and placed a $100 bill on No. 17, expecting, of course, to lose. The ball dropped in the No. 17 division, but I let the money remain on No. 17. Seventeen came a second time, but still I refused to pull my money down. It came a third time. Then I got cold feet and cashed in.' 'How much did you win?' I asked. 'Oh, I don't remember, exactly,' he replied. 'But I came near breaking the bank.' I grabbed a pencil and a piece of paper and figured out that our friend had won $5,025,600, but it was not till I showed him the figures that he hedged.'—New Orleans Times Democrat.

Miss Quay to Wed.

Washington, Sept. 23.—Mrs. Quay, widow of Senator Matthew S. Quay, announces the engagement of her daughter, Susan W., to Watson Hubbard Butler, of Sandusky, O. The wedding will be very quiet and will take place this Fall at the home of the family in Beaver, Pa.

LEGAL NOTICE

The following is ample legal notice to "Everybody's Magazine" and Thomas W. Lawson

And, further, this notice is to warn all people in the States of Connecticut, Massachusetts, Maine, New Hampshire, New York, Rhode Island and Vermont, excepting those of the cities of Hartford and New Haven, Conn., and Poughkeepsie, N. Y., against selling, offering for sale, buying or reading the October number of a certain publication called "Everybody's Magazine."

This said magazine contains a story written by Thomas W. Lawson, called "Frenzied Finance," wherein, in an attempt to expose financial blackmail, he bitterly and brutally attacks one of my clients.

This notice is full warning that I shall prosecute to the fullest extent of the law any person or persons buying, selling, offering for sale or reading the aforesaid magazine.
